

ASUS Overclocking Championship 2007 - 1st Day

The International Overclocking Battle On the 7th of July 2007, Enthusiast overclockers from all over Asia and Oceania gathered in Singapore for the ultimate overclocking showdown, the Asus Overclocking Championship 2007! We have teams from China, Singapore, India, Malaysia, Indonesia, Australia and last but not least, Taiwan! Every team is issued with a set of standard hardware and from there, each and every team will explore different ways and means on how to cool their CPU and Graphics card. The teams will then pit their overclocking skills against one and another, which comprises of simple voltage modifications, ramping up the clockspeeds and software tweaking. This event is kindly sponsored by Asus, Intel, Kingston, AC-Ryan, FSP and Funan Digitalife Mall. At the end of the event, the champion will compete with THE overclocker, our mystery guest! Who on earth is he exactly??? We shall find out... =)

The backdrop of the event, featuring all our sponsors and the lovely CG character from Asus. Our overclockers from all over the world saying Hi! The fantastic prizes up for grabs! Who on earth is our mystery overclocker?

Setting Up The teams arrived at the competition ground as early as 8.30am... Getting Ready for the competition... Reading voltage modification guides!

The teams Team Unkers from Singapore! Team THL from India Team ChanValNut from Thailand! Team ABS from Singapore Team Red Night from Singapore Team Jozand from Indonesia Team BenAndi from Indonesia Team AlHend from Indonesia Team ChrisAzan from Indonesia

The teams continued Team fReNz from Singapore Team Ostraya from Australia Team KO from Malaysia Team KO2 from Malaysia Team Noobie on the Block from Singapore Team Speedtime from China! Team !Xobile from PondiCherry, Singapore Team Airborne from Singapore Team Boom! from Singapore The full Indonesia team! The full Malaysia Team

The hardware The competitors present to you their innovative cooling solutions! Huge ass Radiator from Noobie of the Block! Dry Ice Air Cooling! Loads of Fans More Dry Ice Air Cooling Huge-ass Heatsink A calculator as a heatsink? =P

The hardware continued The legacy of the serpents! Team Unker presents to you the Cobra cooling solution, which they are considering to manufacture them on a commercial scale if they hit fame with these during the competition....

More hardware! Dry Ice Watercooling by Team Ostraya! Smokey Dry Ice Air & Water Cooling combo by Team !Xobile Exotic Water Cooling Solution by Team THL

Sponsors Exposure VR-Zone will never leave our sponsors out of the picture, always ensuring that they get the maximum exposure whenever possible! Asus Demo at Competition Ground Various floorstander posters Lance from Asus giving a presentation educating the public on the benefits that they can reap from Asus products FSP Power Supplies on display

Overwhelming Crowd! The crowd at the event was absolutely overwhelming!

Moments Applying thermal paste "Jaw Drops" What do you mean by 4.5GHz!!! Gee, Point noted. Please, don't crash, don't crash... Why my card dieeeeeeeeeeeeeee What the hell is he doing? Sorting out water tubings FTW! Rescuing a water spill

More Moments OMGWTFBBQ??? "Blink"

The winners! Team Indon FTW! After 5 hours of intense overclocking, the winners is decided! Team AlHend from Indonesia managed to capture the championship! In the 2nd place, there's BenAndi from Indonesia (again!!!) and in the 3rd place, there's Team Speedtime from China! The Indonesian overclockers celebrating their victory The victorious contingent Third Prize with Team Speedtime 2nd Prize with Team BenAndi First Prize with the almighty AlHend!

The mystery overclocker... The mystery overclocker is unveiled! It's none other than Coolaler from Taiwan! Upon appearance, he introduced himself and challenged the Champions, AlHend to a session of Aquamark 3 benchmarking.

In the end, the Indonesians managed to edge Coolaler out by a good 2,000 points, as he didn't have much time to prepare whereas the Indonesians already have their system tweaked properly.

Conclusion... The overclockers taking a group shot together There's still a whole slew of prizes to be won tomorrow, where more blood will be shed... Come on down to Funan Digitalife Mall in Singapore to check out the full action!

For More Articles, visit www.vr-zone.com.

Copyright 1999-2005, VR-ZONE. All Rights Reserved.